Trip Overview

Fourth grade students will enjoy their first overnight field trip, experience 18th century life in the colonies and delve into the mindset of our earliest patriots by participating the Riley's Farm field trip.

The Revolutionary War Overnight trip on the grounds of the Colonial Chesterfield at Riley's Farm (<http://www.rileysfarm.com>) combines the popular day time Revolutionary War Adventure with an evening of living history fun in a recreation of a New England farmstead from the 18th century. During the trip, students can expect plenty of authentic characters, great food, fun activities and contests with delicious prizes!

A typical journey begins in the evening at 5:00 PM when guests are assigned a cot in their sleeping quarters, take part in an orientation meeting and are then divided into groups called "townships." Students then undergo martial training as well as a few additional activities. Cabins and marquis tents will typically house weary guests as they slumber soundly in preparation for a very full day!

At dawn, students will explore some of the farm's vast 760 acres by reconnoitering the top of a local hill and standing watch for the British Army. After skirmishing with the redcoats, guests will return to the tavern to enjoy a farm breakfast of eggs, bacon, French toast casserole and orange juice.
